DAY 2: ADVENTURES OF THE WEST COAST

Start your highland adventure by collecting your rental vehicle and heading to the west coast of Iceland, Borgarfjörður. The region is well known for its exquisite nature and attractions such as the stunning Hraunfossar and Barnafoss waterfalls and Deildartunguhver, the largest hot spring in Europe. Have you ever dreamt of venturing inside a glacier? Well, this is your opportunity! From Húsafell you can take an optional tour to Langjökull, where a manmade ice cave is open to intrepid travellers. You can explore the cave's crevasses and bright blue hues, along with special chambers and informational guides about the geology of glaciers.

After the excursion, drive along Langjökull glacier, following the mountain road Kaldidalur towards the Golden Circle area where you will be spending the night. This is where your 4x4 comes in handy, as this route is only open to 4x4 vehicles. Your first stop along the Golden Circle is Þingvellir National Park, a UNESCO World Heritage Site, which is fascinating for its geology as well as historical relevance.

Driving distance approx: 300 km/186 mi.

Spend the night in the Golden Circle area

Next up is the majestic Gullfoss waterfall, which is a two-tiered waterfall with roaring white water thundering and crashing below. There's a reason why this is such a popular attraction! Head to the Þjórsárdalur Valley, which is located close to the looming volcano Hekla, where you will find sights that include the Þjóðveldisbærinn Stöng, a reconstructed Viking area farmstead and Hjálparfoss waterfall before continuing the route to Landmannalaugar and the Highland Center.

Driving distance approx: 100 km/62 mi.

Spend the night in the Hrauneyjar area (if available).

This is an ideal place to do some light hiking as there are numerous hiking trails in the region. You can even enjoy a dip in a natural geothermal pool in these beautiful surroundings. Next up is driving the Fjallabak mountain road, where you can enjoy this geologically diverse region with visits to the Eldgjá fissures and the Ófærufoss waterfall on your way to the cosy village of Kirkjubæjarklaustur.

Kick off the day by exploring Skaftafell, a divine slice of Vatnajökull National Park and home of the spectacular Jökulsárlón glacier lagoon where you can take a boat ride among the floating icebergs that vary in colour, shape and size. You can spend time marveling at the area's great beauty by trekking the many well-maintained hiking trails, including a short walk to the beautiful Svartifoss waterfall. In this region, you can choose to take part in a guided glacier walk or try your hand at ice-climbing with an optional guided tour.* Journey back to your accommodation along the South Coast for the evening.

DAY 6: BLACK SAND BEACHES & GEOLOGICAL WONDERS

Drive along the beautiful south coast, an area full of postcard-perfect scenery. Notable sights on your route today include the dramatic black sand beaches and jagged rock formations near Vík. And of course, no visit to South Iceland is complete without seeing the stunning Skógafoss waterfall and the nearby Seljalandsfoss waterfall, where you can walk right behind the misty cascade. It is ideal today to join some of the optional activities available in the area such as glacier walking, snowmobiling or horse riding before continuing to Reykjavik, the capital of Iceland.

Spend the night in the Reykjavik area.

 Caution should always be exercised when visiting Reynisfjara beach near Vík due to powerful rogue/sneaker waves and the strong undertow current. Always stay far back from the water's edge and never turn your back to the sea.

*The cliffs at Dyrhólaey are closed from mid-May until late June due to the puffin nesting season.
